I said IF our client got his fees paid and his propert back I'd like to see it end -- which might've told to the court.

Quentin,

I used the exact words from your mouth during our morming conversation on the 8th. You also stated that you were meeting with your client later in the day Thursday. I informed you that I intended to file our motion to dismiss that morning.

I did not indicate to the court that you consented to our motion. Further, it was not titled an unopposed motion to dismiss.

There was no attachment to your email.

Paulette,

I'm confused. I sent an email letter to you at 9:28 o'clock a.m. on Thursday, February 8, 2007, stating: "Until I have a chance to study the issues, we cannot consent to dismissal without a promise of a return of the defendant firearms and payment of our fees." Yet, you filed the motion to dismiss at 11:28 o'clock a.m. on Thursday, February 8, 2007, stating Celata "does not want to continue further litigation." (See Exhibit B, attached.) Thus, the facts, as stated in my email to you, are different than those upon which the Court relied in dismissing the case. Please explain. Thanks!
